

Every family has their secrets,
but Ravensthorpe family
secrets are deadly.

Barclay Stewart, Duke Ravensthorpe's promise to protect family honor is challenged by the secrets his father and four friends were willing to die to keep. Now, he is forced into a dangerous cat and mouse game with Daphne Townsend, the recently orphaned daughter of his father's one-time friend. Her quest for the truth about her parents' deaths could ignite a scandal that Barclay must prevent, but the biggest challenge of all may be protecting his heart from the impulsive Daphne. She would risk anything to find out the truth, even crossing the dangerous Duke Ravensthorpe. He wants to seduce her into giving up her search. The frightening thing is that he just might succeed.
